Congratulations to the above teams for Winning the Deep Learning Hackathon! Your hard work, dedication, and ingenuity have paid off, and your project has impressed us all. Your project was chosen as the best among many other exceptional submissions, and we are proud to recognize your outstanding achievement.

For those teams who did not make it to the final round or did not win, we want to extend our appreciation for your efforts and hard work. We hope that you have gained valuable experience and learned new skills that you can apply in your future endeavors.

We are thrilled to announce that we had 24 teams participating in this hackathon across departments, with a total of 7 submissions for the first round. In the final round, 6 teams presented their projects which consisted of 2 teams each from AI&DS & AI&ML department and 1 team each from IT and COMP departments.

We will be mailing out certificates of participation and achievement to all participants and winners of the hackathon within a week.

We want to ensure that you have a tangible recognition of your hard work and success in this event.

Please be on the lookout for an email from us, which will include instructions on how to access and download your certificate.
